Mayor Notifies the Council of the Approval of the Asphalt Repair Contract.

ROCK ISLAND REFUSES TO REPAIR VIADUCT

By the Adoption of a Resolution the Rate of Interest on Deferred Payments of Special Tax is Reduced.

The city council met in special session yesterday morning for the purpose of passing the monthly salary ordinance, and the members transacted business for two hours before adjourning.

The city council reported that he had sent to the railroad using the tracks under the Tenth street viaduct a copy of the ordinance requiring the roads to repair that viaduct.

The secretary of the Real Estate exchange notified the council of the resolution passed by the exchange providing for a committee of five to confer with a committee of the council regarding the street block paving.

The committee on the street block paving, on recommendation of the committee on public property and buildings the contract for placing the necessary furniture, stoves, etc., in the election booths and returning the same to the city hall after election was awarded to James Stephenson at $79.59.

The cross-beams on the Sixteenth street viaduct were ordered painted at a cost of $19.

The finance committee reported on several applications asking for the remission of the accumulated interest on special taxes, at the condition for payment in full of the back taxes.

Taylor wanted a resolution adopted making this rule general, but it was decided that such action would invalidate the special tax.

A resolution by Haasell provided that the street cleaning force shall be employed on the day of the week until work is stopped by the weather or lack of funds.

The salary ordinance was reported on favorably by the finance committee, but Duncan objected to that portion of the ordinance referring to the salary of the assistant city engineer, and moved that it be stricken out.

Prince, Kennard and Wheeler defended the item, saying that Brown is now a citizen and had been duly appointed and confirmed as assistant engineer.

The ordinance was then passed by a unanimous vote.

After filling a number of vacancies in registration boards the council adjourned.

BOULEVARD GRADING TO PROCEED.

With Through Abright's Choice Will Not Be Changed.

The hurry created among the county commissioners by the announcement by Mr. Hoctor at the meeting of the board Wednesday afternoon, that the South through street boulevard was only sixty feet wide through Abright's Choice, an addition to South Omaha, when all the commissioners had supposed the street was ninety feet wide, has entirely subsided and there is every indication that the work of grading the street.

The portion of the street in question is one-half mile in length, extending from the north line of the addition referred to the county line, and lies upon the summit of a ridge, where the grading is necessary.

The street was planned to a width of sixty feet and has never been changed. Through some mistake it was stated for the graders to the width of ninety feet.

In addition, the same as on the portion of the street lying north of the addition. No proceedings having been had to widen the street it will be impossible to grade it to a width greater than sixty feet without incurring heavy damages, but several of the commissioners have expressed the opinion that sixty feet is wide enough for local purposes and favor ordering the road to be made to that width without any further delay.

GEORGE MORGAN GETS THE LIMIT.

One of the Padlock Men Goes to Jail. One of the four confidence men arrested several days ago was disposed of in police court yesterday morning.

On the charge of using a device for getting, George Morgan, as he gave his name, was fined $100 and costs and was jailed to thirty days in the county jail.

The complaining witness was K. Emhof of Hebron, who ran up against the "padlock" trick several days ago. The con man first tried him on another scheme, but he was not taken in.

Emhof created considerable amusement in police court by narrating the manner in which he was worked. He identified Morgan as the man who had picked up the padlock and who borrowed the money from him to bet that it could not be opened without a key.

GERMAN'S PRESENCE OF MIND.

Saves a Child from Being Gored by a Mad Bull by a Bugle Blast. A person who knows exactly the right thing to do in a sudden emergency, without stopping to think at all, deserves to have his presence of mind noted and commended.

A German drum major has lately attained such distinction, with good reason, relating to the incident of the imperial army, resting on a country road, was appalled to see a great mad bull pursuing a little child in a field which was near by, and yet so far away that the child could not be reached in time to save it, nor yet saved by the shooting of the animal.

The bull had his horns down, and all the spectators were horrified to see that in an instant the child must be gored to death. For an instant no one seemed to know what to do, and then the drum major shouted to the band to play a bugle blast.

The bugles blew a blast at the top of their lungs. The drum major knew that animals of the cow kind are so much affected by strange and high pitched sounds that they seem compelled to retreat. This bugle proved to be no exception to the rule.

As soon as he heard the bugle blast he passed in his pursuit of the child, glanced toward the band, raised his head and began to bellow madly. The bugles kept up a high and discordant tumult as they could and, meantime, soldiers were running to the rescue of the child.

Before the bull had finished its attention to the bugles the child was in a place of safety.

ROONEY LOSES CONFIDENCE IN WOMEN

Kansas Man Journeys to This City and Changes His Spouse with a Livelyman.

"I thought she was an angel," said Frank Rooney, when he spoke to the police officials about his wife.

Rooney's present opinion is that if Maggie Rooney wears wings they are of such infinitesimal size that they will not assist her much in flying. Frank Rooney is a railroad worker with a neat home in Horton, Kan., which, up to four weeks ago, was presided over by his wife, Maggie. Maggie was a cheery soul and in her husband's eyes was little short of perfection.

He trusted her implicitly during the nine years of their married life. His affection was further strengthened by several little toddlers in their little home. Four weeks ago Mrs. Rooney desired to visit relatives and friends in Atlantic, Ia., and her husband readily consented to the trip. She departed and from the letters which her husband received it was apparent that she was enjoying an excellent time. A few days after leaving her husband he determined to run up to Atlantic and surprise his wife.

When Rooney reached the town he was surprised to find that his wife had left the day before, ostensibly to return home. Suspecting nothing and believing that his wife intended to return to her home in Horton, he left for Horton. When he reached home, however, another surprise awaited him. His wife had not appeared. He was still unacquainted and spent a week or more in the effort to locate her, as he thought that she might have been injured.

The search was without result and at last, some early thought entered Rooney's head. He returned to Atlantic and without informing his wife's relatives of his presence began an investigation. He learned that she had not been in Horton since he reached that city he received the further information that she had journeyed to Council Bluffs. At the latter point he discovered that she had been with a man and that the two had come to Omaha.

The man in the case is another resident of Horton, George Sprague. Sprague is a domestic servant of the home of a wife and several children. Rooney never thought that they were intimate, but he believes now that they became acquainted during his absence. He is sure that he has home much of the time, as his run allowed him to be in Horton only every other night.

Rooney is of the opinion that his wife did not intend to desert him or to close with Sprague. He thinks rather that the two agreed to meet in this vicinity and have a good time together for a few days and then return to their homes and their respective families. If such was their plan, however, it will never be carried out.

Upon Rooney's statements warrants were issued for the arrest of both the man and of adultery. Neither has been located and it is believed that they in some manner became cognizant of Rooney's presence and skipped.

HEARD LITTLE, BUT POLITICS. S. H. H. Clark Returns from His East-ern Trip.

President S. H. H. Clark of the Union Pacific receivers and Mrs. Clark arrived in Omaha yesterday afternoon from St. Louis. This is the first time the former has been in the city for about a month. He has been on a trip through the east, and on his return trip stopped a few days at St. Louis, St. Louis, Mo. He is not feeling in the best of health, having contracted a bad cold while in the east.

President Clark stated that throughout the east, as in the west, all interest apparently centered in the political campaign, and people there were able to think or talk of little else but business and politics. Being postponed until after November 3, and everything was likely to remain in status quo till then. In railway circles he said nothing that was new or of interest to the public.

Asked concerning the status of the union depot question, Clark stated that no answer had yet been sent to the Burlington officials in reply to their proposition regarding the completion of the structure at Tenth and Farnam streets. He is waiting for the completion of the structure of the Oregon Short line from the Union Pacific system proper. Mr. Clark said that he thought the segregation would occur about the end of the coming year, certainly in the early part of the year. He said all the plans were made and everything was ready to go, but a move, and he thought it would be made at a no distant day.

WORRYING RAILROAD OFFICIALS. Anxiously Waiting to See What President Stickney Will Do.

While the western roads continue to announce reductions in freight rates, the presidents of a number of the western lines are in session in Chicago endeavoring to adopt some form of agreement that will bring the roads together on a common basis.

It is now practically conceded that the Western Freight association is dead, and it is admitted that so far as regulating freight rates is concerned it was dead long before the withdrawal of the Rock Island and the Santa Fe from the association.

The officers of the Western Clearing houses are about to take steps that will compel the Southern Pacific to cease paying the enormous commissions it now gives to agents who handle business via the Sunset route. Just what will be done about the matter is not made public, but it is certain that the other roads will not pay such great commissions for immigrant business.

Sanitary Test of Ice. Councilman Duncan's committee, which compels the ice dealers to pay for a sanitary test of their product will be in effect October 3. So far no steps have been taken by the health department to enforce it, but Health Commissioner Pugh says that he will take the matter up tomorrow or next day. He will collect samples of ice from all the dealers and have them analyzed by an expert. He said he would refer the matter to the board for such action as may be deemed advisable.

PLUNDER WAREHOUSE IN CAVE.

Special Train Sidelacked at Tenth Street Depot.

RICHARD MANSFIELD IN TOWN.

Special Train Sidelacked at Tenth Street Depot. Richard Mansfield (the Pacific) and his company of fifty members arrived in Omaha yesterday morning direct from New York City. They left the metropolis on Tuesday last and came through to this city without stop for the purpose of opening their season with their local engagement. The large troupe travels in splendid style, and their special train is one of the finest that any theatrical troupe ever occupied. The Burlington brought it over Omaha yesterday morning, and as it is composed of one sleeper, one chair car, Mr. Mansfield's private car and four baggage cars, it makes quite a snoring at the union depot. The train will remain at Tenth and Mason streets for the next few days, the company's engagement of a week not beginning until Monday evening next. The players will live in their cars, and during their spare hours will feast their eyes on the fascinating scenery in the vicinity of Tenth and Mason streets.

The four baggage cars are well filled with special scenery, new costumes and everything needed for the correct presentation of the six plays that are billed. There is new scenery for the plays of "King Richard III" and "The Merchant of Venice." That for the former is the exact duplicate of the scenery used at the Globe theater of London in 1889.

WOULD BE SINGLE ONCE MORE. Charges Made by Mrs. Van Wormer Against Her Husband. Beesie F. Van Wormer has applied for a divorce from Fred H. Van Wormer on the ground of cruelty and non-support. Her petition recites that she was married to Van Wormer in Fullerton, Neb., January 25, 1890. She alleges that she was in delicate health at the time of her marriage, but, notwithstanding that fact, she charges that her husband cruelly compelled her to continue to live with him, going to live with her parents, where he refused to contribute to her support. She says that no children have blessed their union and she asks that she may be granted a divorce and given alimony from the worldly possessions of her husband, which she alleges, consist of farm lands, stock and farm produce.
